MEMORY MODULE

Abstract of the Disclosure

Embodiments of the present invention provide a memory module. The memory module includes an adapter region for interfacing the memory module with a host electronic device, a memory component, and an on-card intelligent controller. A fingerprint data security system is in communication with the on-card intelligent controller, configured to identify a user before allowing access to the memory module.